- EQIP – Oklahoma ranks highest in the country in percentage of obligated funds; 100% funding has been obligated in contracts; NRCS had received additional EQIP funding on Friday from national funding sweep, these funds will be allocated to two counties with high ranked contracts that are ready and awaiting funds. Additional EQIP funds have been requested.

NRCS is waiting on guidance for vaccination requirements announced by the President. There are strict limitations for employees attending indoor events.

Communications Summary for September:

Website:

The Oklahoma Conservation Commission re-designed website launched on Thursday, August 19. In mid-September 2020, the Communications Director Bryan Painter met with Darrin Presley, then of OMES, about out a Statement of Work and to verify OCC could go to a state approved vendor for website redesign. We moved forward at that time and ultimately began working with Koch Communications. This project has included ongoing updates from the Communications Director to all OCC Divisions. All Divisions have also provided input/feedback. Close to 400 comments were vetted by the Communications Director before being resolved or submitted to Koch. The Communications Director also submitted more than 85 calendar items for the site's new calendar. Roughly 40 percent of these were submitted by Divisions or Conservation Districts.

State and national outreach on Flood Control Dams:

OCC has worked very closely with local and national media for coverage of Oklahoma's nation leading 2,107 Flood Control Dams. Coverage has been exceptionally strong this summer. Nyk Daniels and Logan Layden of KGOU public radio joined OCC and Konawa Conservation District staff for a training day at Salt Creek Dam 22 in Pottawatomie County. They are working on a series of stories that focus on conservation and infrastructure.

Ron Hays recently highlighted a release we provided on flood control dams, their benefits, and their present and future needs, in his Oklahoma Farm Report

Chris Clayton of DTN Progressive Farmer had a story featuring the infrastructure importance of flood control dams. That story featured Oklahoma and highlighted a tour in the Stillwater area provided by with Dan Sebert, Executive Director of the National Watershed Coalition, and Anita Kaufman, Payne County Conservation District, District Secretary.

Congressman Frank Lucas' office contacted OCC Communications Director for some information and the Congressman recently featured the anniversary of Cloud Creek Site No. 1. Congressman Lucas also spoke on the House Floor about the importance of investing in watershed and flood control dams constructed under the USDA Watershed Program. To watch Lucas' Floor speech, please go to <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=85IsHdVQ1cs&t=14s> .

Blue Thumb—In Pictures

August 2021

Fish Gone Crazy

After getting rained out most of July, Blue Thumb staff have been grinding this month with LOTS of fish collections! Mostly in the Tulsa area with a few outliers, we have done nearly 15 fish collections in the past month! We've caught some really cool fish, and had some pretty good diversity within these streams. Remember, the more diverse the fish are, the better the stream!

IRWP

In the midst of all the fish collections and normal Blue Thumb bug collections, this month we've assisted the Illinois River Watershed Partnership (IRWP) with their work in the Illinois River Watershed. This is a good chance for us to look at some of the bugs up in a beautiful part of the state.

Yard by Yard

Blue Thumb volunteer Tom Clark is recognized in Tulsa for having a yard that does indeed make the cut! Tom builds healthy soil and filters pollutants with how he cares for his yard. Also he feeds pollinators! The Yard by Yard Project is managed now by several conservation districts across Oklahoma.

Education, Education, Education

This month, Cheryl really hit the ground running with education events across the state. From Ray Herral park in Tulsa, to the Chicksaw STEM camp, back to Riverfield Country Day School in Southwest Tulsa, and all the way to Norman for the National Home School Educators Association, there have been a lot of people hearing about Blue Thumb!
